Grapheme Spotter

Read the text and underline the grapheme  when it appears on its own (not as part of a digraph or trigraph). Now, colour code these words according to the phoneme the  makes.

Dear Gran,

What a crazy day it's been today! It all started when my father put his apron on to cook for us all. We watched him wash and cut up lots of fruit. My favourite were the apricots and apples. Then, we had small pastries... each one was so yummy. We washed it down with water while Mum and Dad had fresh coffee. We were heading out for a walk at the park when our dog escaped from his lead! So instead of a nice stroll we spent the morning chasing Buster. We all trudged home muddy and wet... but happy to have Buster back safe!

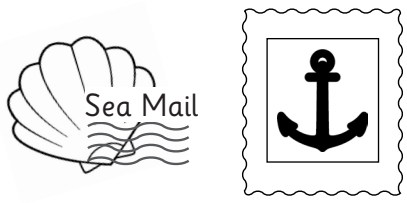
Read the text and underline the grapheme <ear> in as many words that you can find. Now, colour code these words according to the phoneme the <ear> makes.



Dear Gran,

Today we all got up early. It was the most sunny, clear day of the year so far. I could hear the birds tweeting as I woke up. It seemed like they were rehearsing for a concert, all singing sweetly together. We searched the house for our swimwear for an early sunrise swim. As soon as we were ready, we walked to the lake very near to our house. We were about to dive in when we heard a strange noise in the woods. Bears had been spotted recently so we squealed in fear at first! But then the "bear" started laughing… and my best friend jumped out. She had been trying to spook us! We all giggled and dove in the lake.

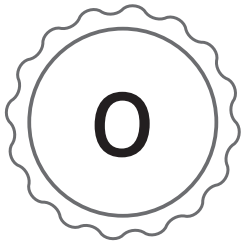
Grapheme Spotter

Read the text and underline the grapheme <o> when it appears on its own (not as part of a digraph or trigraph). Now, colour code these words according to the phoneme the <o> makes



Dear Gran,

What a hot day today! I woke up so early because I was so hot that sweat was dropping off the end of my nose! It was a complete shock, as it wasn't even summer! I looked at my clock and it was six o'clock. My mother popped her head in and told me to try and get more sleep. I was hoping that would work… but I was tossing and turning too much. My brother and I stumbled downstairs to eat honey on toast with ice cold water to start the day!

Grapheme Spotter

Read the text and underline the grapheme <ou> in as many words that you can find. Now, colour code these words according to the phoneme the <ou> makes.

Dear Gran,

A very cloudy day today! My cousin and I were heading to the zoo with a group of our friends. We packed soup, crackers and cheese. We waited at my house, until we heard a very loud shout. The bus driver had arrived! A while later we arrived at the zoo. First, we found the spot with young monkeys. One of them jumped onto the bars and nearly touched my shoulder! Then, we saw a zookeeper feeding giraffes. They have a purple tongue in their mouth! Finally, we visited the hyenas. They make such a funny sound. Seeing animals fills my soul with joy!

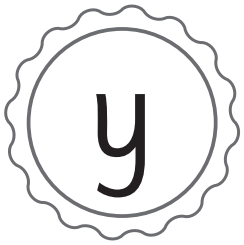
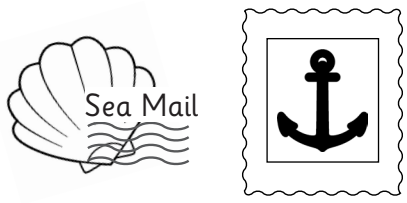
Grapheme Spotter

Read the text and underline the grapheme <y> in as many words that you can find. Now, colour code these words according to the phoneme the <y> makes.





Dear Gran,

What a funny outing I had! I went with my best friend's family to the circus. I've never been before so it was a bit of a mystery. The circus tent was yellow and red. Everyone inside was really happy, giggling at a yawning clown who kept pretending to fall asleep! A baby next to us started to cry - some children are afraid of clowns I guess! Next, a very tall lady balanced on a pony. Then a juggler juggled heavy crystal balls… he was really good. But my favourite were the trapeze artists. I yelped as they flipped through the air!

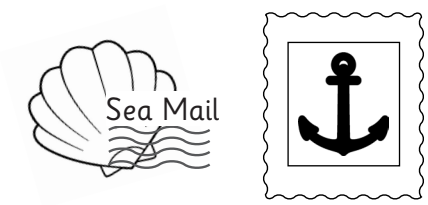
Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /ai/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.



Dear Gran,

I went for a sail today on the lake. At first, it was sunny with a slight haze in the air. But before long… the grey clouds came in. I turned back to shore, waiting for the rain to fall. And it did! In only eighty seconds, I was completely drenched. Next time I see clouds in the sky, I'm going to stay away from the boat!

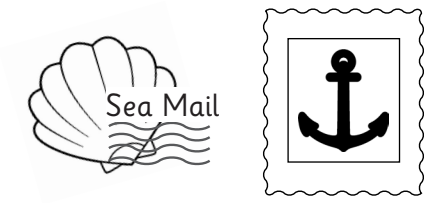
Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /ee/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.



Dear Gran,

A short walk in the valley today turned crazy! We were strolling in green fields when we saw a flock of wild turkeys. At first, they were at ease, peacefully watching us. But suddenly, the lead turkey started to run right at us! His flock followed his theme, all charging at top speed. We shrieked and ran all the way back to the car. I don't think I even stopped to breathe! We made it safely inside. What a relief! Turkeys can be fierce.

Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /igh/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.

Dear Gran,

Tonight was special. It was cool for July, so we lit a bonfire. The light from the sparks glowed like stars in the sky the whole time. The smoke drifted away in little puffs that swirled up a mile high. It was so beautiful that I tried hard not to cry! A few tears escaped, but they were tears of delight! Have you ever had a night like that, in your lifetime?

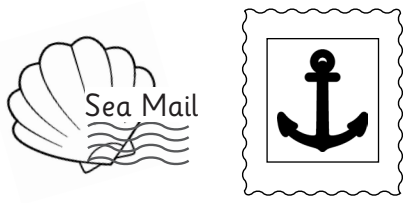
Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /oa/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.



Dear Gran,

You will never guess what happened on the road today. We were driving home when a goat poked its head out from a row of rose bushes near our car. It jumped onto the road! We hit the brakes so fast I bumped my nose. The goat had a hurt leg, and its head hung low. Dad tiptoed close and helped it to the side. We drove to the nearest farm to let them know. The farmer went to rescue the goat in his tractor. Phew!

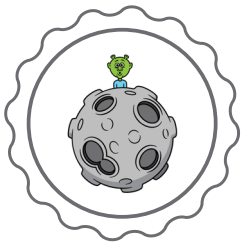
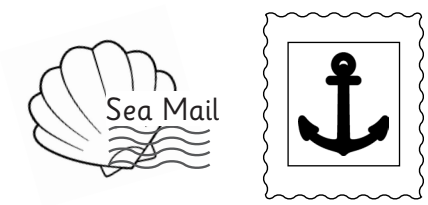
Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /oo/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.





Dear Gran,

Today I had to pick an instrument to play at school. You know I love the smooth sound of the flute, so I went with that. My flute came in a blue box, which included a mini broom you use to clean it. At home, Mum almost threw the broom away by mistake; it was too tiny, you almost could not see it! I have been practising lots, so now we have a new house rule: no tooting on the flute after supper!

Phoneme Spotter

Read the text and underline as many words that you can find with the phoneme /yoo/. Now, colour code these words according to the graphemes.

Dear Gran,

I got a cool new book from the library. It's about a unicorn that plays the tuba in a music class. The class bullies think that the tuba is a stupid choice: they argue that it's too loud and too huge. But the unicorn loves its volume, and thinks it's cute! On the teacher's cue, she blows a note so low and loud that it blasts all the mean kids out of the classroom. Sometimes I wish I had a tuba that could solve a few of my problems too!
